FROM MEXICO.

Juarez Seriously Considering the Expediency of Executing Ortega—Maximilian Pressed to Remain in Mexico—Rumors, Speculations and Contradictions of Previous Dispatches.

NEW ORLEANS, via NEW YORK, February 1.—Private letters from the City of Mexico report that a new proclamation will be issued by Maximilian, taking stronger grounds than heretofore against Orizaba.

A meeting of the Cabinet was held at the palace of Maximilian on the 14th, when the question of Maximilian's stay or departing was put to the vote, and it was decided he should stay. There were five votes in favor of departure, on the grounds that the struggle should be abandoned.

Rumors about the disaffection of Miramon were rife, and some credit have been attributed to them. The garrisons of several cities have given up their adhesion to Juarez and declared against Ortega.

GALVESTON, January 31.—General Mejia, of Juarez's army, and the bearer of dispatches to Washington, has arrived here.

The Liberals have ceased to fight against the Liberals, and do not interfere in the battles between the Imperialists and Liberals.

The Liberals are gathering in the Valley of Mexico, and will soon number 10,000.

B. G. Osborn, formerly of New York, has been dismissed from the Mexican navy for misapplication of funds and desertion.

SOUTH AMERICA.

The War Between Spain, Chili and Peru—Situation of the Fleet of the United States—Looked For—The Revolution in Mendoza.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—The Herald's Santiago, Chili, correspondence of January 21, says foreign mediation between the allied Republics and Spain had been definitely rejected. The vigorous prosecution of the war has been determined upon. Mediation on the part of the United States was looked forward to as amicably. It was believed a proposition for an adjustment from that quarter would be accepted.

The Chilian government had received reliable information that Spain was making every preparation for war, and would reinforce the naval force of the Juniero.

Valparaizo was rapidly becoming impregnable, and the allied fleet was being made ready for an engagement.

The finance question was becoming all embarrassing, although specie remained plentiful.

The Mendoza revolution had assumed alarming proportions, and the revolutionary army, it was thought, would succeed, in that case a general uprising would probably take place, and the war of the triple alliance against Paraguay would be ingloriously ended.

Nothing has been heard from the United States steamer Lancaster, reported foundered off Cape Horn.

Another Question Pending in the Supreme Court.

MEXICAN AFFAIRS.

The President to-day sent to the House voluminous documents on the subject of Mexico. Among them was a letter from Secretary Seward to Marshal J. Rodgers, of December 21st, in which he says the President does not deem it necessary or expedient at present to intervene in matters of civil contract between citizens of the United States arriving in Mexico, or between citizens of the United States and Mexico. This is in reply to Roberts' complaint that President Juarez had granted a charter to the Tehuantepec Transit Company, in derogation of a previous contract granted to the "La Tehuantepec Company," which it is claimed has legal force.

APPOINTMENTS.

The President has nominated Gen. Fullerton as Postmaster at St. Louis, and Isaac Verplanck, of Buffalo, and Daniel Cellyear, of Philadelphia, Commissioner to adjust the unsettled war claims of Massachusetts.

The senate has confirmed the following appointments:

H. H. Heath, Secretary of the Territory of New Mexico.

DEATH OF H. S. MCGRAW.

REMOVALS FROM OFFICE.

The President this morning sent to the House in reply to the resolution calling for information in relation to removals from office.

The Secretary of State's report exhibits the fact that no persons were re-appointed by him after their rejection by the Senate, and no names withheld from the Senate during its session. The number of removals was ten, and the number of appointments to supply vacancies, seventeen.

The report of the Secretary of the Treasury shows the total number of changes during the recess at 278, of which 74 were removals, leaving the number re-appointed after rejection by the Senate was 26, and 9 were reappointed on whose nominations the Senate failed to act. The Senate, 26 who declined when their names were withheld from the Senate, 2 whom died during the recess, and 141 during the session of the Senate—these could not take the oath required by law—and were removed for malfeasance in office, and a conflict between the Executive and Senate. Of the nominations of others were submitted. The names of 11 were accidentally omitted from the nominations, 3 of whom have been superceded by the appointment of other persons.

The Secretary of the Interior states that of the 1,400 land registers and receivers, seven have been removed from office and nine persons appointed, of sixty-one Surveyors-General twenty-two have been removed. Of ten Superintendents of Indian Affairs, two have been removed, and of seventy-six Indian agents five have removed; of sixty-seven pension agents twelve have been removed. The total number of clerks and employees under control of the Secretary of the Interior, exclusive of the foregoing, is six hundred and twenty-four, of this number only twenty-seven have been removed. In almost every instance, the removal has been to provide a place for a meritorious soldier, who became competent to discharge the duties.

The report of the Secretary of War states no persons after their rejection by the Senate have been re-appointed by the President. No appointments have been made since the last session. Of persons whose names were withheld from the Senate, a few cases occurred through inadvertance in the Adjutant General's office, but were corrected immediately. Two persons have expired by Constitutional limitation, will be re-nominated at the present session. Twenty-seven persons have been appointed to fill vacancies made by ordinary casualties of war, but their names will be sent in for confirmation at the December session. Referred to the Select Committee on Civil Service.

The Secretary of the Navy reports no appointments or re-appointments in the civil or naval service requiring the action of the Senate, made during the recess.

The Postmaster General reports the removals for political reasons, of which number, commissions have, in two cases been withheld; one hundred and fifty-nine removals have been made to make room for wounded and other soldiers; twenty-two appointments were made necessitated by resignations or deaths; twenty changes by reason of appointments rescinded; eighty-two resignations because of conflict of official duties; five changes caused by declination of office, three changes caused by expiration of commissions, two removals by abandonment of office; and one removal because the postmaster was fraudulently recommended. Total, two hundred and twenty-two.

A NEW PLAN OF RECONSTRUCTION.

A New York Times' special says: The President has a new plan of adjustment based on qualified suffrage and amnesty, of which I made mention a few days since, has been further matured and discussed, and somewhat modified in details. The prospects of its adoption by the administration is almost certain.

A special to the Evening Chronicle of this city, says: "There is no doubt that a new policy is in process of incubation at the White House. There has been a sort of informal notification to prominent Southerners that the administration intended to adopt a new line of reconstructive action, and this advice has had the effect of bringing to Washington Governors Orr, Parsons, Marvin, and others, who were freely admitted to the councils of the Executive. Qualified suffrage and universal amnesty form the superstructure of the new plan. In this movement Secretary Stanton is reported to have given his cordial adherence. On Thursday, the latter minister and one other member of the Cabinet, met in several hours' converse eight or ten members from each House, who are invariably counted with the majority. The interview had almost exclusive reference to impeachment. Secretary Stanton deprecated in very feeling terms the unsettlement and agitation of the civil and national interests of the country, should a trial of the President be resolved upon. In departing, he gentlemen of Congress pledged themselves to oppose further action in the matter by the lower House.

LAND OFFICE MATTERS.

Commissioner Wilson of the General Land Office has submitted to the Secretary of the Interior for approval, two lists of lands pertaining to the State of Minnesota, to aid in the construction of the St. Paul and Pacific Railroad, embodying in the aggregate 115,920 acres.

INDIAN INVESTIGATION.

The Commissioner on Indian Affairs has appointed the following civilians as commissioners to investigate the circumstances connected with the massacre at Fort Phil. Kearney: General James R. Stedman, General John B. Sanborn and Judge J. W. Kinney. In addition two officers of the army will be appointed as commissioners: not yet selected. The Commissioners will rendezvous at Omaha on the 15th inst. clothed with ample power to make full examination.

FINANCIAL MEASURES.

Jay Cooke, of Pennsylvania, Governor Smith, of New Hampshire, Thomas H. Page and John W. Ellis, of Ohio; E. G. Noyes, of Indiana, and other prominent bankers and business men, held a consultation with the Comptroller of the Currency and the Secretary of the Treasury yesterday, and agreed upon the following of the bill, which, it is said, meets the approbation of the Secretary of the Treasury and the Comptroller of the Currency. The gentlemen above named have had an interview with the Senate Finance Committee, and it is understood that a bill will be reported by the Committee to the Senate next week. The bill reads as follows:

Be it enacted, &c., That for the purpose of redeeming and retiring any compound interest notes outstanding and held by national banks, the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized to issue, temporarily, loan certificates in the manner described in section 4 of the act approved July 25th, 1862, bearing interest at a rate not exceeding four per cent. per annum, principal and interest payable at the lawful money of the United States; said certificates of temporary loan may constitute and be held by national banks holding or owning the same as part and not exceeding the reserve provided for in section 31 and 32 of the act entitled "an act to provide a national currency," approved June 3d, 1864; provided the amount issued shall not exceed $100,000,000.

General Van Wick, of New York, who recently arrived here, reports great anxiety among men of all conditions and parties, by reason of the impression that Representative Randall's bill will pass, and as a consequence destroy all the country national banks, and precipitate financial convulsion and ruin. The reports of his investigation lead to the belief that there is not the remotest possibility that this bill—or any other impairing the present condition of banks—can become a law.

The Supreme Court in the District of Columbia is still engaged in hearing arguments on the quash of the writ. That oath required for admission shall be set aside.

DEATH OF HON. PHILIP JOHNSTON.

The announcement of the death of Hon. Philip Johnston will be made to-morrow. The funeral will take place on Sunday.

IMPORTANT QUESTION PENDING.

A case is now before the Supreme Court in which Texas sues the Treasury of the United States for a large amount of State bonds seized by the Government at the close of the war. This is the first cause before the Supreme Court in which an excluded state has been a party since the war, and it will strike a precedent to be which the Southern country maintains its status of State boundaries.

MARYLAND ELECTION.

BUSINESS BEFORE THE HOUSE.

The impeachment project makes no progress.

The indemnity bill will be reported back to the House on Monday.

The tariff bill has been referred in the House to the Ways and Means Committee, and will be considered in connection with the tax bill, until both are ready to be reported.

RECIPROCITY IN TRADE.

The President has issued a proclamation discontinuing the discriminating duties of tonnage and impost on vessels entering the Hawaiian Islands, and products imported into the United States from thence both, so long as reciprocal exemption continues.

PENDING COMPOUND INTEREST NOTES.

The Senate Committee on Finance has agreed to report on Tuesday a bill for funding the Compound Interest Notes held by the banks.

PROBABILITIES OF THE TARIFF BILL.

There is no probability that the tariff bill, as passed by the Senate will be accepted by the House. It will eventually go to a Committee of Conference, in which subsequent, ly, a new bill will be framed.

PERSONAL.

Gen. Fremont is on a visit to Washington.

Special Meeting of the Refiners' Association—Remonstrance Against the Passage of the Oil Bill.

Yesterday afternoon, at three o'clock, a special meeting of the Pittsburgh Petroleum Refiners' Association was held at the Board of Trade Rooms, on Wood street. In the absence of the President, on motion, R. S. Waring, Esq., was called to the Chair, and H. M. Long, Esq., appointed Secretary.

The President stated that he had taken the liberty of calling the meeting, in order to take some action remonstrating against the passage of the bill presented in the Legislature by Mr. McKee, entitled "an act to provide for and regulate the inspection of coal illuminating oils, produced by the distillation of petroleum, peat, shale, asphaltum, coal, and other bituminous substances used for like purposes."

H. M. Long, Esq., then moved that a committee of three be appointed to draft resolutions expressive of the sense of the Association, remonstrating against the passage of the bill referred to. The motion was adopted, and R. W. Burke, Henry H. King and Wm. Forsyth, Esq., appointed as said committee. The committee then retired.

The Secretary read a letter from Charles Lockhart, Esq., dated at Harrisburg, who stated that none of the Allegheny county delegation in the Legislature, with the exception of Mr. McKee, were urgent in the passage of the bill. Enclosed in the letter was the original petition, about one-fourth of the signers are not oil dealers, asking for the passage of the bill, and also a remonstrance from several well-known oil dealers who were signers of the petition for its passage. The latter have been imposed upon as to the character of the bill when they signed it, and who now remonstrate against its passage.

Thomas W. Davis, Esq., then arose and stated that he was one of the signers of the original petition asking for the passage of the bill, under the impression that the bill provided the inspection of refined carbon oil, and that after finding out the true character of the bill, he signed his name to the remonstrance against its passage.

The Committee on Resolutions then presented the following resolutions for the consideration of the meeting:

Resolved, That the passage of any law, making it compulsory for refined coal oil to have their oil inspected by a State Inspector, before it shall be sold for home consumption, is an unwarrantable and unnecessary interference with our business.

Resolved, That the bill offered by Mr. McKee compelling us to have all the oil shipped to New York inspected by State Inspectors, is full of vexatious and expensive hindrances to our business, and will tend to the destruction of many of our refineries, and divert all shipments for export to New York, New Jersey and Maryland, where no such laws exist.

Resolved, That we heartily advocate the passage of a State or National law prohibiting the sale of all explosive oils.

Resolved, That we recommend this Association to cause the appointment of a committee to draft such a bill as will effectually protect the consumer from the dangers for which they are now liable, by the sale by dishonest dealers, of explosive, adulterated and dangerous oils, and that the bill of Mr. McKee, as it now stands, is utterly powerless to accomplish this end.

Resolved, That to give our protest against this bill, as now offered, proper force we appoint a committee to proceed to Harrisburg in a body to properly represent our views before the committee and members of the Legislature.

The report was accepted, and, on motion, the resolutions were unanimously adopted.

On motion of R. W. Burke, Esq., E. P. Hawkins, William Forsyth, and O. B. Jones, were appointed to proceed to Harrisburg, and in conjunction with Messrs. Lockhart, Davis and Morgan, of the committee, use their influence to defeat the passage of the bill introduced by Mr. McKee and to procure the passage of the bill in lieu thereof.

On motion, the Association adjourned.

Disability To Pay.

In December last a gentleman from Sewickley came to Allegheny and visited the market for the purpose of making purchases. He bought, among other things a quarter of beef from a farmer of Butler county, and was to pay him for it during the afternoon. He did not. On inquiry being made it was ascertained that the purchaser had left on the afternoon train was not known to the butcher in that county. Word was mailed for his customer to come again within ranges of said firm's meat market. Neither event transpired, and at last, the other day, he put the bill for collection into the hands of Chief Long of the Allegheny police. That officer visited the defaulter and soon obtained the money. The creditor was profuse of apologies, and remarking that the audience who witness the play to-night in a new name, must not confound it with the brilliant original romance which will appear in the Leader to-morrow.

The Assistant Attorneyship.

We briefly referred yesterday to the fact that many of our leading attorneys had forwarded to Harrisburg, a remonstrance against the passage of the bill now before the Legislature, creating the office of Assistant District Attorney in Allegheny county. Yesterday we were shown petitions signed by an almost equally large number of attorneys, who practice in the Criminal Courts, advocating in strong terms the passage of the bill, and another signed by many of the same gentlemen who had signed the remonstrance. The passage of the bill, we believe, would greatly facilitate the duties of Court as the business to be transacted is much too large to be promptly attended to by any single lawyer, no matter how expert and efficient he may be. Inasmuch as the city press has spoken out in its favor, we presume the bill will pass both Houses.

Murder at Alliance, Ohio.

We learned last evening that a cold-blooded murder was committed in Alliance on Tuesday last. Three men in a state of partial intoxication entered a saloon kept by Frank McDougal and demanded whisky. McDougal took down a decanter and poured out their drinks. To this they demurred, and a quarrel ensued, when one of the party drew a pistol and fired at McDougal, the ball taking effect in his groin. He lingered in great agony until Wednesday evening, when he expired. The murderer, whose name is James Crale, immediately made his escape, and had not been captured at last accounts. He is five feet, eight inches high, his face and head are marked with a number of scars, and he wore, when last seen, a black cap and black clothing.

Fatally Injured.—We stated on Thursday that Mr. John Schultz, of Lawrenceville, had been so severely injured by being run over by a sled in that borough, as to render the amputation of his leg, below the knee, necessary. We now learn that Mr. Schultz is in such a condition that little hope remains of his recovery. He was removed from Dr. Smith's office to the St. Francis Hospital, Lawrenceville, where every attention is given him.

THE DEMOCRATS ENCOURAGED.

The course of the Republican majority in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, on several important matters, during the current session, has inspired the Democratic leaders with high expectations of carrying the state next fall.

The Democratic State Convention, to nominate a candidate for the Supreme Bench, has been called to meet at Harrisburg on the 11th of June.

The Democratic State Committee has advised the immediate appointment of two delegates from each Senatorial and Representative district, to meet in Mass Convention at Harrisburg at such time as the State Committee may see fit to designate. The injunction is given that these delegates be men of "recognised position and influence."

The Democratic Committee has issued private circulars, earnestly urging immediate and thorough organization.

In themselves, we do not regard these movements as of special consequence; but the causes which have impelled thereto are worthy of serious consideration on the part of the men who control the Republican party. If they do not perceive that certain lines of policy have been extended already beyond the limits of prudence, they are too blind for the positions they occupy. The Republicans are answerable for the whole drift of legislation, and cannot shake it off. They have the Governor and both branches of the General Assembly; have had them almost without intermission for a number of years. For what is hindered, as well as for what is helped, they are accountable; and will be held thereto. The organization of the Committees of both Houses so as to defeat the passage of General and Special Laws in which the Western and Midland counties are deeply interested; the refusal or omission to enact a General Railroad Law, liberal in its provisions and not easy to be circumvented—to which the Republican party stands publicly pledged; the manifest intention to strangle the bill for the relief of the Pittsburgh and Connellsville Railroad Company; the unfairness and insolence with which the men of the West have been excluded from just recognition in time past; the arrangements already entered into for their exclusion in the future; the clear determination to resolve the party into a close corporation, in which the northern and western counties are to be counted on for majorities, and the eastern and central counties take all the honors and emoluments; these, and other causes of similar description, are certainly creating a widespread feeling on this side of the Alleghenies calculated to encourage the Democrats to renewed efforts.

If the Republican leaders, east of the mountains, indulge the delusion that they can suppress this feeling by bluster or menaces they utterly mistake the character and temper of the men with whom they have to deal. The demand here is for public and personal justice and equality, and if these shall be sturdily withheld by the party leaders, they will be responsible for whatever consequences may result. The time has come when these things should be said; and if the leaders are desirous of perpetuating the Republican ascendency in this Commonwealth they will give heed to these suggestions.

A RIVAL ROUTE TO NEW YORK.

"Some years ago a survey was made from Kittanning to Brookville, along the Cowanshannock Valley, which was then considered the best route for the extension of the Allegheny Valley Railroad. It was cheaper than any then known, and could have been built for over half a million of dollars less than by the Red Bank route.

"Since that time the proposed extension by way of Brookville was abandoned, and that to Oil City along the verge of the Allegheny river adopted, and now the road to its final destination last named is being rapidly completed, and within another year may be in active operation.

"And while the new route of the Allegheny Valley Railroad is reaching its completion, the question of also building a road on the old route to Brookville, and thence to North Point on the Philadelphia and Erie Railroad, so as to form a complete new line to New York and Philadelphia from Pittsburgh and Kittanning, has been revived. It is now proposed to build this extension along the Cowanshannock Valley, beginning at either Kittanning or Monticello, provided all the owners of real estate along the contemplated line will come forward and guarantee, unconditionally, the right of way to the railroad company, entirely free of all pecuniary considerations."

Our contemporary does not state by what existing roads, after leaving the Philadelphia and Erie, it is in contemplation to reach New York. Some months ago our attention was called to this matter of a rival and independent route, by a gentleman thoroughly familiar with the midland regions of this Commonwealth, and with the existing railroad facilities through the northeastern counties. He was decidedly of the opinion that no proper arrangement could be made for using any portion of the Philadelphia and Erie railroad, for reasons which are manifest to almost everybody, and that it would be essential to make a new road, some seventy or eighty miles in length, by which to reach Northumberland, at the forks of the Susquehanna river, from which point railroads have been in profitable operation for many years, all the way to New York. These railroads are the Bloomsburg and Lackawanna, which extends up the North Branch of the Susquehanna to Pittston, and thence up the Lackawanna to Scranton. From Scranton the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad runs till it intersects the Central Railroad of New Jersey, near Easton. This latter road formerly had its eastern terminus at Elizabeth, on Newark Bay, but has within two or three years been extended to Jersey City, opposite New York. The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western is a broad guage road. If it should be used as part of a new trunk line, a third rail would be necessary from Scranton down to Junction. The Central Railroad of New Jersey is of narrow guage, but a third rail was laid upon it quite a number of years ago to facilitate the immense coal traffic coming out of Luzerne county.

Another route, but we think not so feasible a one, is that projected by Sir Morton Peto, when he was casting about for new projects upon which to raise money enough to avoid bankruptcy. He proposed to diverge from the Philadelphia and Erie near Northumberland, by taking the Catawissa Railroad, which would lead him from the Susquehanna basin over into the Valley of the Lehigh. Proceeding by way of Mauch Chunk, his design was to strike what is commonly known as the Allentown route, at Bethlehem, some sixteen miles from the confluence of the Lehigh with the Delaware. From thence, his plan was to cross New Jersey by one of the existing routes.

Of these two schemes, we apprehend the former offers the largest inducements.

LITERARY.

Since the suppression of the Southern rebellion this country has been flooded with light, trashy literature. Besides the large field occupied by weekly literary papers and serial numbers of the numerous family of magazines, the press also is constantly throwing off this kind of reading matter by the thousands, in pamphlet form, the ten-cent fancy-cover "blood and murder" stuff, to the higher priced and better class of novels. It is to be much regretted that this low grade literature finds such an extensive sale, and that the mania for this kind of reading is encouraged by publishers, who have thereby assumed a responsibility of a grave character, and one, too, that is bearing fruit that is steadily undermining the morals of the rising generation.

Concert of action by publishers would not only strangle that kind of sensational, low grade writers, but change the morbid taste of the public for such reading matter. As the tone of literature is elevated, so will the tastes of the people be raised to a higher standard of excellence. Publishers and writers had much to do with the wonderful change attained over the current literature of the last century in the old world. Even in the present day there is a license taken by writers in Europe, and countenanced by publishers and people, that dare not be assumed in this country without incurring the maledictions of the reading public. Bad as the tastes of the people are in this country, it ranges high above many others. But there is room for improvement. It is but just to recognize the noble stand of a few of the leading publishers, such as the Harpers, Appletons, Dodd, etc., in maintaining the standard of literature at a point of excellence that some have forfeited by pandering to the vitiated and demoralized.

It is refreshing to meet with publications of a substantial character, tending to elevate and interest the mind and awaken pure thoughts. Such publications are calculated to counteract the pernicious influences of the miserable trash which circulates so largely. The Harpers have just brought out a work of much merit, and one, too, which will doubtless find a ready sale. It is entitled "Annals of a Quiet Neighborhood," a work of 381 pages, tastily bound in muslin. It is one of those kinds of works which tends to cultivate the better elements of our nature, and at the same time there is a charming style in the narrative, which carries the reader along with such ease and comfort, that is so often the case in the realm of fiction. These attractive papers originally appeared in the Sunday Magazine, edited by the celebrated Dr. Guthrie, at least most of them, and they were received with great favor by the numerous readers of that popular and well conducted magazine. The Harpers have done a good work in reproducing them in book form, as they belong to a department of literature of which we cannot have too much. The public need a healthier style of literature, and such works will greatly help to give it tone and character.

The author, George Macdonald, M. A., gives his ideal of a clergyman of the Church of England, though the type is one in charge of a rustic English parish. In some portions of the work there is a stiffness in the style, but generally the characters drawn are represented with care and gracefulness. Mr. Macdonald shows a strong feeling for the beautiful in nature, as a writer remarks, a poet's appreciation of those subtle influences which cause her varying moods to be reflected in our souls as in her skies. Unlike the exciting novel, when it is finished and thrown aside, this book we may turn to as to a friend, and find consolation and sympathy.

This great publishing house have also just issued "American Leaves," one of the most readable books which has appeared for some time. The book is gotten up in elegant style, and contains nearly four hundred pages. The author is Dr. Samuel Osgood, a distinguished New York divine, who prepared the articles originally with one exception, for Harper's Magazine. They are fifteen in number, and differ widely in style and topic, yet they agree in treating a series of topics of interest to every thinking American—topics such as "School Influences," "American Boys," "American Girls," "Art Among the People," etc. The Doctor places some serious and important truths before the American mind in the easy and graceful diction which characterizes his writings. The only objection that an orthodox mind might raise would be an occasional plea for "liberal Christianity."

The Doctor thinks, in his essay on "American Girls," that woman in this country has a peculiar delicacy of physical constitution that makes her especially sensitive to external influences. Whether it is the climate, or our way of living, or whatever may be the cause, the fact is certain that the American girl is a very delicate plant; beautiful indeed, in comparison with others, yet not generally strong in nerve and muscle, and too ready to fade before her true midsummer has come. Marriages, as early as the laws of health and the dictates of prudence allow, are advised, because young people are saved from many evils by identifying their whole destiny with each other, and the wife's affections and the husband's purity are then in the best possible keeping, under God's law and Christ's grace. These brief words will give some idea of the line of thought in the essay stated. The numerous readers of Harper's Magazine, as well as others who have only read an occasional article, will be pleased to have the whole series so beautifully bound in book form for their libraries.

Magazine literature has steadily risen within less than a score of years. However, side by side with those of merit, there are some monthlies struggling for the victory, which it would be far better should fail to receive an adequate support. This style of reading, in connection with the daily and weekly newspapers, forms a large part in the family circle and by the traveller. Seventeen years ago the Harpers commenced their monthly, and magazine literature soon entered a new era. The vast resources of that mammoth establishment were brought into requisition to furnish a monthly composed of the best materials to be obtained, of pen and pencil, to make it readable for all classes, from the scholar down to the lowest type of mind. It steadily grew in favor from the outset, so that it enters the year 1867 with a circulation of one hundred and twelve thousand copies. Praiseworthy as it may be to them for their tact in bringing their publications before the people, yet, the monthly itself merits the popularity it has attained. No expense has been, or will be, spared to perfect it in every department. The first number (200th) of the new year enters upon its career with brighter prospects than ever.

Novels are looked upon by some people with great suspicion. There seems to be a terror to them in the very name. All novels, however, are not alike; some are bad enough to be sure; but there are works of this kind which any person may read with pleasure and profit. Such novels as "Felix Holt, the Radical," and "Adame Bede," by George Eliot; "John Halifax," and "The Two Marriages," by Miss Muloch (Mrs. Craik), are delightful weavings of fiction. These novels are found in the library of "Harpers Select Novels." Recently these publishers have issued the following novels in paper covers: "Cradock Nowell, a Tale of the New Forest," by Richard Doddridge Blackmore, Author of "Clara Vaughan;" "Beruthal; or the Son's Revenge," from the German of L. Muhlback; "Rachel's Secret," by the author of the "Master of Marton."

In our remarks yesterday under the head of "Dangerous Legislation," we did not, of course, intend any censure of our worthy representative Mr. McKee. It was his duty doubtless to present the petition and, probably as advised, to report and advocate the bill. We feel sure when he thoroughly investigates and understands the evil tendencies of the bill as reported, he will be as ready as we are to oppose its passage. Blame can attach to him only in default of this.

On the first of March, Charles A. Dana's new paper, the New York Republican, will make its first appearance. It will be intensely radical in tone, advocating all the extreme measures of the party, favoring the immediate impeachment of the President, universal suffrage and the utter disfranchisement of rebels. George Wilkes and Isaac R. England, well known journalists will be connected editorially with Mr. Dana in the management of the new journal.

A case is now before the United States Supreme Court, in which the right of the Council of New York to make into streets, any part of the public grounds and parks of that city, will be contested.

At a boys' school in Lexington, Ky., nearly every one of the scholars carries a pistol on their persons. They will eventually prove worthy ornaments to the chivalry of the South.

Senator Geo. C. Ruffe, of the Kentucky Legislature, has been a member of that body during the past thirty-four years. He has grown old in the service of his constituents.

Pennsylvania College at Gettysburg was fired by an incendiary a few days since. The flames were discovered before much damage was done.

Laboring hands are very scarce in Kentucky. A Board of Immigration is to be established to induce worthy laborers to settle in that State.

It is probable that Captain John A. Dickinson will be the Democratic candidate for the Mayoralty of Louisville.

A New York Judge has decided that government certificates of indebtedness are not exempt from taxation.

—A story is told of Stewart, the dry goods millionnaire, that knowing a certain article was rising, he sent to a Boston merchant to buy up everything of the kind at the hub. He overlooked the putting up of his own prices, however, to correspond to the rise; the Bostonian found it out, and bought half of Stewart's own stock at two cents a yard less than market rates, before the merchant prince found it out. Stewart had to buy his own goods at an advance.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS

was struggling into notice against the prejudices which everything new, however excellent, is doomed to encounter. TO-DAY it stands at the head of all the tonic and alterative preparations in existence. Its celebrity has evoked many imitations but NO RIVALS. Physicians pronounce it the only SAFE STIMULANT that has ever been introduced into the sick chamber. In the Hospitals of the Army and Navy, the surgeons find it the very best tonic for convalescents, and report as it invaluable for sustaining the vigor of troops on the march, as a remedy for scurvy and all scorbutic affections, and as the only specific for sea sickness. California and Australia have emphatically endorsed it as the MYER'S MEDICINE par excellence, and in Spanish America and all the tropical climates, it is considered the only reliable antidote to epidemic fever.

There is no mystery about the causes of its success. It is the only stomachic and alterative in which are combined the grand requisites of a mild, pure and invitilated vegetable stimulant, with the finest selection of tonic, anti-bilious, anti-scorbutic, aperient, and depurative herbs, plants, roots, and barks that have ever been determined in a medicinal preparation.

It is also proper to state that Hostetter's Bitters are sold exclusively in glass, and never, under any circumstances, by the gallon or the barrel. Impostors and imitators are abroad, and we hereby safeguard the public has against them is to see that the Bitters they buy bear the engraved label and note of hand of hand of Jos. Hostetter & Smith, and the Government stamp over the cork of the bottle. ja30

TO CAPITALISTS.

Lucrative Business in Pittsburgh For Sale.

THE UNDERSIGNED OFFERS for sale and immediate transfer the Lease, Fixtures, Good Will and Stock of one of the leading houses in the West combining two separate branches of business, either of which can be carried on independent of the other; one a very large cash retail business almost without a limit; the other a specialty, with but one competitor, and capable of being very largely extended, and in which no capital is required.

The profits of the business for 1866 were $43,000, and it is comparatively in its infancy, being thoroughly legitimate, and requiring but energy and attention, it is to the man of capital at once a rare and special chance.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 18, 1867.

GENTLEMEN: The duties of your offices are not only important, but such as I have no doubt you take great pleasure in performing.

It is not sufficient that the laws provide bounties and pensions for the surviving soldiers, and the widows and orphans of those who perished in defence of our liberties; these should be presented to the Government with care and promptness, and placed in the hands of those entitled to them, free from all charges.

The agency at Washington was established for these purposes, and has thus far been in successful operation. Its objects meet with my approval—my warmest approval. Desiring, if possible, an increase of its efficiency, I here with transmit you a few rules, with which I will expect a strict compliance.

Respectfully, &c.,

JOHN W. GEARY, Governor.

Col. JOHN H. STEWART,
Lieut. Col. WILLIAM A. COOK.

HARRISBURG, PA., Jan. 18, 1867.

RULES FOR THE STATE AGENCY AT WASHINGTON, D. C.

First. The agency will be kept open during the business hours of the departments at Washington, and at such other hours as the business may require.

Second. Records or dockets will be opened and kept up of all applications or claims. As far as practicable, they will be classified according to Congressional districts.

Third. The utmost attention and promptness will be given the application and papers transmitted to the agency, as well as to verbal inquiries.

Fourth. The papers will at all times be kept in perfect order, so that if necessary a report can be made of the doings of the agency at any time.

Fifth. If any important differences of opinion should occur between you and any branch of the general Government, you will present to me a concise statement of the points, so that I may give it due consideration.

Sixth. Immediate notice of the substance of these rules, and that the agency is prepared to give strict attention to military claims, will be published in at least one newspaper in each county of the State.

Tyrone and Clearfield Rail Road.

The people of Clearfield county are moving to secure the completion of the Tyrone and Clearfield Railroad to Clearfield. At a public meeting held at that place last week, Ex-Governor Bigler spoke of the flattering prospects of having the Tyrone & Clearfield Rail Road extended to Clearfield. He referred to the candor with which Mr. Thompson, President of the Pennsylvania Railroad, received his suggestions on the subject. He then gave a detailed account of his exertions and interviews which resulted in the Pennsylvania Company making a proposition to furnish the means for constructing the road, and that the Pennsylvania Rail Road will pay $150,000 to responsible parties here, the latter to grade the road, guarantee bonds, procure the right of way, furnish the crossties and the grounds necessary for depots, sidings, &c. Gov. Bigler then read the letter from which it appears that the probable cost to the citizens of this county, independent of the amount to be paid by the Pennsylvania Road, will be from $100,000 to $40,000, but it is deemed proper to raise at least $80,000. He also explained the manner in which it was proposed to distribute their proposition, and in this connection read the subscription paper, or agreement, which had been prepared, and urged those present to append their names and the sums they wished to give to the enterprise. The amount which had been subscribed prior to this meeting was $55,000. To-day, during the evening, were added about $10,000. After which the meeting adjourned.

Burglar Committed.

John Campbell, alias William Adams, charged, on oath of J. H. Johnston, with the larceny of fire-arms from the Great Western Gun Works, had a hearing yesterday morning before Mayor McCarthy and in default of $1,000 bail was committed to jail for trial. John Stevens, arrested on a similar charge, was remanded to the watch-house for a hearing to-day.

Adams, or, as he called himself on the train, Campbell, would certainly have been arrested even if officer Kline had not, so fortunately, been on hand. Chief Hague and officer Busna, of the Mayor's police, had, in response to the telegram received on Wednesday morning from Larrimer's station by Mr. Johnston, started for that place to make the arrest. On their way they learned of his being on the day mail train, and had made their arrangements to overhaul him at New Florence. Meantime Mr. Kline, thinking the circumstances against Campbell sufficiently strong to warrant him in so doing, arrested him and started back without knowing that the other officers were on the train. The prisoner was the victim of a singular set of circumstances.

Stevens, the alleged accessory, was arrested, as we have already stated, in bed at home, on Negley's Run, by Ward Nicholson, Esq., and officers McMullen and Dressler. He denies all connection with the affair, except that he he helped Campbell, who lived with him, to sell the weapons.

The Uncertainties of the Law.

The law's delays were well illustrated by a recent case occurring in Ashtabula county, Ohio. In 1854, Horace Haines was tried in that county, for the murder of Hiram Sutliff, and found guilty of murder in the second degree, and sent to the Penitentiary for life. This finding was regarded as a kind of compromise on the question of capital punishment, and the general opinion was that he was as fully proved guilty of murder in the first degree as murder at all. Haines last week was discharged from prison, under a decision of the Supreme Court, of Ohio, declaring the indictment void, following the precedent in the case of Couts vs. Ohio, 8th Ohio Reports. The defect is, that it does not charge that the murder was feloniously, as required under the Statutes of Ohio. Under the common law the crime of murder does not require that it shall be with an intention to kill, if it be with premeditation, malice, &c.; but under the Ohio statutes, all crimes are specially defined, and in the definition of murder, the intention is required. So Haines escapes because the indictment followed the common law instead of the Statute. Haines is to be remanded to Ashtabula county for a new trial; but even that would not be likely to convict him.

Lively Runaway.

Yesterday morning, at about ten o'clock, a horse attached to a local express wagon, while standing in front of the Express office, on Fifth street, took sudden fright and started furiously up the street. After going a short distance up the street the wagon came in forcible collision with a loaded coal wagon, and while the wagon passed on scott free from harm, the axle of the coal wagon was snapped and the vehicle left in a heap. The fugitive wagon next struck the forward end of a buggy which it met, and hoisted the slight structure off the ground. Strange to say, however, the buggy was let down on its four wheels again unharmed, and proceeded on its way. The express wagon kept on up Fifth as far as the corner of Smithfield street, when it turned down towards the river. At the corner of Diamond alley its rumbling career was struck and, with the force of collision, the express wagon was overturned and the runaway horse was thrown down. He lay helpless until he was released from his harness, when he was reconstructed and driven back for a fresh start. The wagon was uninjured.

The Trial of Ladies for Destroying Liquor.

The women of Greenfield, Highland county, Ohio, have a summary way of dealing with the much vexed liquor question, and in July, 1865, they took the evil, so far as their own neighborhood was concerned, into their own hands, and made a general onslaught on all taverns and saloons they could find, staving in the heads of barrels, bursting demijohns, smashing bottles and playing the mischief with drinking stock generally. The whisky dealers combined to bring suit against these strong armed and minded females for damages, and the trial which came off at Hillboro, the county seat, is just ended. Nearly a hundred witnesses were examined' the Greenfield ladies, coming to town in a procession of wagons and being the guests of the ladies of Hillsboro during the trial, the latter having made ample preparation to receive them. But all would not do. The majesty of the law has to be vindicated, and the Greenfield matrons were found guilty, and damages assessed at $975.

Terrible Accident.

The Franklin Citizen of Thursday, says: On Tuesday, the 29th, a serious accident occurred at the Coal Railroad, one mile below the mouth of Big Sandy. A loaded car was going down to the river, drawing up an empty one in the usual manner. The ropes which regulate the speed of the cars, pass over a cylinder at the top of the hill, where brakes are provided. It is supposed that the brakesman at this point turned the brakes the wrong way, when the empty car ascended the hill with such terrific speed, that several persons standing near could not get out of the way. The corner of the car struck Mr. James D. Austin, splitting his nose open. The car then struck a beam, throwing it against Mr. C. Lippencott with such force to throw him about fifteen feet and produce concussion of the spinal cord. He was speechless for some time, but is in a fair way of recovery. Mr. John Marks had his right arm broken and badly mangled, and his skull fractured. The injured men are all doing well, except Mr. Marks, whose injuries are probably fatal.

Cincinnati will be Cincinnati. An exchange says that some admirers of Historical Snuff and Tobacco Fame, while standing in front of the Express office, on Fifth street, took sudden fright and started furiously up the street. After going a short distance up the street the wagon came in forcible collision with a loaded coal wagon, and while the wagon passed on scott free from harm, the axle of the coal wagon was snapped and the vehicle left in a heap. Again in Difficulty—Thomas Hughes Has a General Row.

Thomas Hughes, who was convicted of manslaughter in the killing of J. T. Gallen, sentenced to ten years and six months imprisonment in the Penitentiary, and pardoned by the Governor a few weeks since, has again got into difficulty, at about half-past ten o'clock on Thursday night he was considerably under the influence of liquor, and was engaged, together with several others, in conducting a general row near the Allegheny Market House. Lieutenant Elkin, of the Allegheny night police, interfered to check the affray, and arrested Hughes. He was conducting his prisoner to the lock-up, when, as they were passing the stone steps leading down to the cellar kitchen of the Market House eating saloon, Hughes made a sudden movement and tripped the officer's feet out from under him, at the same time hitting him a blow. The officer would have fallen into the cellar, but saved himself by catching hold of the leg of his prisoner. The latter made a break and succeeded in getting away, but had gone a short distance when he slipped and fell. Officer Patton, of the night watch, pounced upon him and captured him again. At this time Captain David Evans, one of Hughes' pals, quickly interfered and struck Patton a severe blow, felling him to his knees. Officer Meilly, a private watchman, who was watching the affair, interfered to assist in the arrest, when Hughes struck him, knocking him down. The officers speedily concentrated, however, and succeeded in getting the prisoners to the lock-up. Yesterday morning Lieutenant Elkin and officer Meilly made information against Hughes for assault and battery and resisting an officer. The accused was held in $500 bail on each charge to answer at Court, and obtained bail in time to prevent being committed.

Officer Patton also made information, charging Evans with similar offences. He was held to bail in the sum of $500 for Court.

Keeping the Streets Clean.

The charters of most of the street railways require that they shall keep the streets clean over which they run. We notice that in Harrisburg, Judge Pierson has given a decision in the case of the city of Harrisburg vs. the City Passenger Railway Company, which declared the city ordinance which obliged the Railroad Company to clean the street in front, eighteen inches outside of their track, to be null and void. The Judge based this decision upon the fact that the company only occupies nine inches outside the rail and that the construction of the law would not admit of compelling them to keep the street clean any further than they really occupied it.

That's What's the Matter.

Patrick H. Murray, yesterday made information before Alderman Taylor, charging Michael Mutter, proprietor of Switzers Hall, on Penn street, in the Fifth ward, with keeping a gambling house, and also with assault and battery. It is alleged that on January 1st, the deponent went to Sweitzers Hall and indulged in a little game." On going away, he says he left a pair of shoes there which he was unable to get on going after them again. Yesterday he met with the accused, and after asking him what he wanted for, as advertising physicians are generally impossible, without reference no stranger should be trifled. VERDICT IN THE LUMBER CASE.

James Summerville vs. Guy C. Irvine

The jury in this case on Friday morning rendered a verdict in favor of plaintiff for $261.98. Defendant's counsel, R. F. Lucas, Esq., moved for a new trial and filed reasons.

AN OIL FLAT CASE.

James Sanderson vs. Adam Kreps, implicated with William Kreps, William Logue, P. Sollinger and George Daubs. Action for trespass and damages. Plaintiff complained that on the first of August, 1866, at Lyall's Ripple, in the Allegheny river, an oil flat belonging to him and lying aground was run against by a flat boat belonging to defendants and destroyed, involving a damage estimated at three hundred dollars. It was shown that plaintiff's boat was lying across the rocks at the lower end of the ripple, half or three quarters across the channel, which is narrow at that point, and the current very swift. The boat was struck on the side of the gunwale and run upon by defendants' boat, some fifteen or twenty-five feet, and lay in that position all night. Failing to get off by any other means, an axe was procured and the defendants' boat cut loose. There was no person on board plaintiff's boat at the time it was run against, or any one to warn them what might have prevented the collision. The case went to the jury at noon, John Barton Esq., for plaintiff; A. M. Brown, Esq., for defendants. No verdict at the adjournment.

CASE SETTLED.

A STEAMBOAT CASE.

Joseph H. Mellon and George Shoop vs. owners of the steamboat "Brilliant." Action for damages, arising out of the sinking of a coal flat. On December 8th, 1865, plaintiffs delivered a flat laden with 15,-71,200 bushels) and other articles, valued in all, including flat, at $1,710, to the steamboat "Brilliant" for towage from Pittsburgh to Oil City, for a certain price, without unreasonable delay. Plaintiff alleged that the owners of the steamboat, or their agents, disregarding their contract, and unskilfully conducting the premises, did not safely tow and deliver the flat so laden at Oil City, and wholly neglected to do so, but the flat, having, through unskilful and careless navigation, run aground, causing the flat to swing around in a narrow channel, thereby causing a collision with the steamboat "Peerless," ascending the river, by reason of which collision the flat was sunk and destroyed, together with the coal lading. Plaintiffs claimed to have suffered damage to the amount of $2,000 for which they bring the suit.

The defendants plead release, not guilty. The plaintiffs, it appears, first brought suit against the steamboat Brilliant, but failed in the action, (tried June 12th, 1866) on the ground that they were not responsible, the owners of the Brilliant having contracted to deliver the flat. On the trial the Captain of the Brilliant was called as a witness, and objected to on the ground of being a party in interest, whereupon the plaintiff released him from all liability, which release defendant's counsel claimed held good in the present case. It was further claimed that the bill of lading was a sufficient release, as by its terms the boat of plaintiff's was to be delivered at Oil City at the risk and hazard of the owners thereof, as to all dangers, perils, accidents and losses, except such as might happen from the gross want of or good faith of the master and owners of the steam towboat Brilliant.

Howard & Son and Watson for plaintiffs. Marshall and Barton for defendants.

Information was made before Alderman Strain yesterday by Robert Weddell, charging Wilson Work with false pretences. The dependent alleges that the accused purchased of him, at his cigar shop on Water street, near the corner of Smithfield street, one thousand cigars, promising to pay for them as soon as they should be delivered at the store of J. B. Gunther, near by. The cigars were delivered, but no money was paid, hence the suit. A warrant was issued. We opine that no very strong case will be made out in the premises.

Discharged—On the 28th of December last, Ebenezer Sterrett made information before Alderman Strain, charging Henry Anderson with larceny. It was alleged that the defendant stole from the deponent, at Lemont's tavern, on the Monongahela River, in Chartiers township, a suit of clothes valued at $15. The accused was arrested shortly thereafter, and held for a hearing yesterday. The hearing was accordingly had, and there being no testimony to substantiate the charge, the defendant was discharged.

St. John, N. F., Feb. 1.—The Governor opened the Assembly to-day. He regrets the pauperism so prevalent, which is attributed to the failure of the fisheries. He recommends immediate efforts for the suppression of pauperism. Negotiations will be reopened with the French government in relation to our rights of granting mineral and other lands on the French shore, hitherto refused. He deplores the failure of the potato crops, and urges the necessity of planting crops not liable to failure.

—The proposition has been before the committee of Congress for some time to give in payment to national banks holding compound interest notes as part of their legal reserve 3 per cent notes to an amount equal to one-half of their required reserve, which is now about $300,000,000. These will be purchased by the banks the same as legal tenders, for they can demand legal tenders for them on ten days notice. The object of this such an issue would probably be two. First, the banks would draw interest from the Government on their reserves—that is, the treasury would be at the expense of paying the banks an annual sum to enable them to keep the reserve which is required by law; and secondly, the effect would be expansive so far as the volume of currency is concerned, and would therefore neutralize contraction, favor inflation, and foster high prices.

—The entire amount of legal tender currency now outstanding is five hundred and twenty-five millions of dollars—three hundred and eighty millions of greenbacks, and one hundred and forty millions of compound interest notes. In two years, at the rate of four millions per month, about one hundred millions of greenbacks will have been withdrawn, and all the compound interest notes will have matured and been paid. There will then be $280,000,000 of greenbacks as legal tenders. Of these, the banks are compelled to hold permanently two hundred millions, equal to 25 per cent of their deposits and circulation; and they must hold at least thirty millions for their daily transactions, and the Treasury will probably hold sixty millions, leaving the circulation only about twenty millions, the redemption of which would make greenbacks as good as gold and render a resumption of specie payments the most important period practicable. It is very generally conceded by parties who discuss the question of the currency interest with us that, in fact, 525. In two years, at the rate of $4,000,000 per month, about one hundred millions of greenbacks will have been withdrawn, and all the compound interest notes will have matured and been paid. There will then be $280,000,000 of greenbacks as legal tenders. Of these, the banks are compelled to hold permanently $200 millions, equal to 25 per cent of their deposits and circulation; and they must hold at least thirty millions for their daily transactions, and the Treasury will probably hold sixty millions, leaving the circulation only about twenty millions, the redemption of which would make greenbacks as good as gold and resumption of specie payments the most important period practicable. It is very generally conceded by parties who discuss the question of the currency interest with us that, in fact, if it continues warm another twenty-four hours, however, a break may confidently be expected, on the big river, too, the like which has not been seen for some time. Telegrams from Oil City report warm rains and we have no doubt but what the thaw has extended to the headwaters of the Monongahela, so that a freshet may be expected in both the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers.

The wharf presented a more cheerful appearance yesterday, although there was but little business transacted. Shippers do not care about sending down freight until there is a positive certainty of boats getting out, and, indeed, steamboatmen do not care about receiving freight until they are certain of being able to leave.

Among others, the following named boats are partially loaded, and will be among the first to leave upon the resumption of navigation: Kate Robinson and Leonidas, for New Orleans; Kate Putnam and Glendale, for St. Louis, and the Maggie Hays, for Cincinnati and Louisville.

The Ezra Porter, we understand, will be the first boat to load under the auspices of the "Pittsburgh and St. Louis Packet Company," and if the ice breaks up, she will commence business on Monday, and go out on Wednesday. Captain Brennan, Superintendant of the new line, is busily engaged in perfecting his arrangements, which, when once completed, everything, will, no doubt, move along nicely and harmoniously.

The snow has gone so quietly, and without that attendant appreciation, so dreaded in regard to a flood, have partially subsided. That there will be a big river is generally expected, and as the water is very heavy, is well known, but it is not probable, now, that there will be any great destruction of property.

Capt. James Vandergrift, formerly of the Argosy, arrived at Cincinnati on Wednesday, and takes charge of the office of the Southern Express Company, at that point.

Capt. Evans arrived; there the same day.

The Cincinnati Gazette says that the old steamer Lancaster No. 3 is to be sold by the United States Marshal.

Capt. Parr has bought of Capt. Varble, at Louisville, his half interest in the steamer Paleface, for $10,500, delivered at Louisville free of debt.

It is stated on good authority that one of the gorges below St. Louis, at Andrew Nicholas, Genevieve southward to St. Mary's and beyond, a distance of twenty miles.

Capt. Varble, of Louisville, bought of Capt. Parr one-fourth part of the Tempest for four thousand dollars, and sold one-fifth part of the Bermuda for five thousand dollars, Varble paying all debts and liabilities since the Tempest was owned as interest in said boats to date. Parr gives Varble the earnings of the same.

The City Council of Jeffersonville has refused to subscribe $25,000 to the contemplated Ohio river bridge.

Ben. A. Congar, clerk of the W. R. Arthur has resigned that position, and is now in connection with the A. & M. S. S. Co. Capt. Congar has been tendered and accepted the command of one of the Northern Line packets.

The explosion of the Wm. White, in the Green river, last week, by which she was made a day or two wage, is pronounced a fraud.

IMPORTANT DECISION.—The following decision of the Attorney General of the United States, will be found important to steamboatmen and shippers.

The case of T. C. Mohan vs. Steamer Olive Branch reached conclusion in the Third District Court, yesterday morning, Judge Long in favor of the defendants. The case was tried two years ago, was decided in favor of defendants, appealed to Supreme Court, who remanded another trial, which occurred to-day before a jury. Plaintiff sues defendants for damages to forty barrels of apples, shipped on board the steamer Olive Branch at St. Louis, Mo. The defense was that the boat was not responsible for the damage that occurred. The evidence on the part of plaintiff showed that the day after the vessel left St. Louis she grounded 150 miles below, where she lay for several days, and that the apples arrived not of feed—put it out on a bank, employed another boat to bring it here, when it arrived in bad condition. The Third District Court decided, on this question, that "low water," of which the defendants complained, could be classed among the dangers of the river, which absolve the carrier from his obligation."

TEST CASE.—Captain Dubie, of the steamer Rialto, was fined $25 at the Mayor's office police office yesterday, on a charge of boarding passengers at the wharf. So the police officer states. The facts of the case, so far as we have been able to learn them, are as follows: The steamer was advertised to leave Pittsburgh Friday evening at five o'clock. Passengers were invited to come aboard for the trip, and took their meals on the boat as usual. Something occurred to prevent any departure till Saturday, when complaint was made to the police. Hence the arrest and fine. This may be all right, but the people who paid their money should be fined for feeding their guests gratis if they choose. An appeal was taken from the decision of the mayor to the court, and the case will be made a test one.—Monongahela Appeal, 27th.

Says the St. Louis Democrat: The late movement of steamboat owners in Cincinnati, has caused considerable interest here, and a meeting was held yesterday to discuss the subject of a steamboat exchange, or owners association, in all its bearings. Some sort of an association will probably be the result, in order that the important matters connected with the running and equipment of steamboats, &c., may be regulated in such a manner as to render steamboat stock more valuable and remunerative.
